"Beth Bordeaux had an immeasurable impact on the positive formation of our agency which is now recognized as one of the premier public local management agencies in the state." —Beth Melcher, Clinical Director, The Durham Center

Quality Planning, Evaluation and Improvement is critical for service organizations today . . .

To improve program outcomes and the life-changing results for service recipients

To improve relationships with community leaders, funders and other stakeholders

To make the best use of the web of resources available for your organization

To gain purpose and clarity

To increase organizational health through better communication and listening to one another, your community and the individuals and families you serve

Quality Planning, Evaluation and Improvement Cycle

Human service organizations today are faced with ever increasing regulations from state agencies and accrediting bodies, restrictions on funding and scrutiny from the public and the media.

Choose Your Response . . .

Transform these headaches into assets by designing a quality planning and improvement system that focuses on your organizational needs, improves your service processes and overall results.

Assessment
Strategic/program planning
Service development
Implementation
Evaluation

Use the Results to Design . . .

Program improvements
Results-based marketing
Impressive reports for funders and stakeholders

RESULT—service outcomes that you can count on . . . Make a difference!

A Productive Partnership . . .

GTM consultants work in partnership with agency staff, service recipients and community leaders to make certain results reflect the expectations of all stakeholders. Cookie-cutter solutions are replaced by a series of individualized action steps, areas of responsibility and target completion dates.

The GTM partnership begins with a no-obligation meeting at which the consultant will conduct an abbreviated assessment of your quality planning, evaluation and improvement processes. Based on client preferences, written recommendations, costs, and time lines follow.

A Proven Track Record . . .

Beth Bordeaux, founder and president of GTM Evaluation & Planning, Inc. has helped a number of human service organizations use these quality tools to refocus their mission, legitimize programs and improve the benefit to individuals and families.

This same service is available for you. Take the first step by calling GTM at 919-612-2168 to schedule a complimentary introductory meeting.

"Beth is a highly skilled, dedicated partner in problem-solving and planning."
